

FRANKLIN MOORE GILES

Franklin Moore Giles was born at Nottingham, England, September 10, 1851, son of Thomas H. Giles and Elizabeth Moore. He emigrated with his parents to America in 1858.

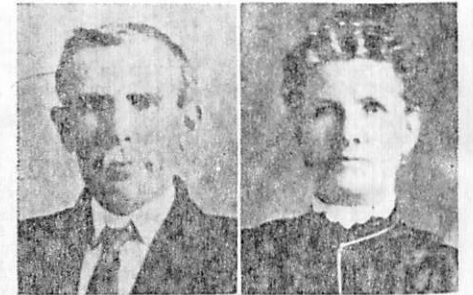

He married Elizabeth Daybell, daughter of Finity Daybell and Mary Draper. She was born January 24, 1856, in Derbyshire, England, and came to Utah with her parents in 1864. Some time later they settled in Heber, Wasatch County.

Brother Giles was ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Henry Clegg, a position he held until 1894. He died August 8, 1912, as a faithful Latter-day Saint.

They were never blessed with children, although they loved them very much. A nephew, J. Fred Giles (son of George T. Giles and Sarah Daybell), lived with them most of his life until he was married. She died at his home, December 19, 1939, at the age of 84 years.

364

FRANKLIN MOORE GILES

Franklin Moore Giles was born at Nottingham, England, September 10, 1851, son of Thomas H. Giles and Elizabeth Moore. He emigrated with his parents to America in 1858.

He married Elizabeth Daybell, daughter of Finity Daybell and Mary Draper. She was born January 24, 1856, in Derbyshire, England, and came to Utah with her parents in 1864. Some time later they settled in Heber, Wasatch County.

Brother Giles was ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Henry Clegg, a position he held until 1894. He died August 8, 1912, as a faithful Latter-day Saint.

They were never blessed with children, although they loved them very much. A nephew, J. Fred Giles (son of George T. Giles and Sarah Daybell), lived with them most of his life until he was married. She died at his home, December 19, 1939, at the age of 84 years.

— 364